Bangor University was established in 1884 and has a reputation for academic excellence, high levels of student support and has ‘the best university setting in the UK’ according to The Independent’s ‘A-Z of Universities’, which also ranks Bangor as having one of the lowest costs of living of any UK University. This means that the education you will receive at Bangor will be exceptionally good value for money.

Bangor is a small city that is dominated by the 11,000 students at the University, of who about 15% are overseas students. It has very low crime rates, a strong sense of community and, unusually for the UK, is Bilingual as Welsh is spoken along with English by many inhabitants, giving it a rich cultural atmosphere. Bangor sits on the coast with the mountains of Snowdonia behind, but is easy to get to with Manchester and Liverpool airports within 90 minutes and London only 3 hours away by train.

"The University has provided lots of supports for me, the international office assisted with my visa and holds a range of social activities, the student peer guides helped me to adapt to the new environment and ensured I settled in. My academic school has provided support on my studies, I can feel free to ask my personal tutor or the International tutor questions about any difficulties I am having. I am coming to the end of my undergraduate degree at Bangor and have enjoyed it so much I have already applied to study a masters degree here as I don’t want to leave yet.”

“I came to Bangor because the Psychology department has an excellent reputation for student satisfaction and research quality and is amongst the best in the UK. Bangor University is well prepared to welcome new students every year. Starting from welcome week, peer guides are allocated to small groups of students in order to provide them guidance and facilitate them to meet new people. Being an international student, I received attention from one-to-one international student learning advisor. Studying in UK has widened my insights into cultural differences and facilitated my critical thinking when encountering problems. Additionally, the UK education system of three-year undergraduate and one-year master courses is shorter than the courses in other countries [e.g. USA] so studying university in the UK saved me time and money and will allow me to get a job sooner.”
