

香港城市大學
City University of Hong Kong

Oral Presentations of Academic Projects: Developing Multiliteracies through English for Science

Project Number: 6000302

Principal Investigator: Dr Christoph Alexander HAFNER

Grant Type: TDG

Abstract:

In languages for specific purposes not enough attention is given to the development of new literacies, i.e. the use of digital tools to convey information through a combination of modes (e.g. textual, visual, audio) and interact with an authentic audience. This project investigates the possibility of combining traditional literacy instruction with the development of new literacies through a video project (scientific documentary). This project will inform the immediate student participants but will also have wider application in course development for EN discipline specific courses, courses in the BCH and Mathematic Departments, and in the university as a whole.