Learning by doing: Digital Media as tools and subject of media literacy teaching

Project Number: 6000510

Principal Investigator: Prof Roberto SIMANOWSKI

Grant Type: TSG

Abstract:

The project undertakes the discussion of digital media and culture in the discovery and collaborative writing approach of peer groups. Students explore specific subjects such as online confession and self-tracking websites and present their results in a class generated Wiki. They also experiment with the Narrative Clip thus combining the practical use of digital technology with its discussion. The project encourages a reflective insight into digital media and culture resulting in a Wiki usable in other classes as a reference to peer studies and as a motivation and starting point for student research.
