

The Science of Food and Cooking

This course aims to help students to develop an appreciation of science, especially biology and chemistry, through cooking and vice versa.

Discover food and cooking from a scientific point of view with an emphasis on ways to cook better and to have a healthy life.