

The Laboratory for Public Management & Policy in the Department of Public Policy at City University of Hong Kong invites you to an online research presentation (via Zoom):

Monday, November 16, 2020
12:30-13:30 Hong Kong time

Nick OR

Nick PETROVSKY

Richard WALKER

Survey experiments on the fight against Covid-19

Abstract:

Over the last few months, we surveyed the Hong Kong general public on three separate occasions about their reactions to tools to fight the Covid-19 pandemic. These tools included:

- different graphical ways to present information;
  - different versions of a hypothetical but realistically presented contact tracing app.
- We will explain how we did our research and implications of our findings for public service delivery, including which ways of presenting disease patterns and designing a contact tracing app increase citizen acceptance.

To register, click <https://bit.ly/32es1uE> or scan:

Please register by 11:30 on Nov. 16 (one hour before the talk).