Webinar Overview

In a free market economy, competition drives efficiency and innovation, and directs businesses to meet consumer demands by providing the right products at the right price and quality.

The Competition Ordinance (“the Ordinance”), which came into full effect in December 2015, is designed to promote competition and prohibit anti-competitive practices in Hong Kong.

In this webinar, the speaker will introduce the key elements of the Ordinance and share with the audience some Competition Law cases that have been brought before the Competition Tribunal.

By the end of the webinar, participants will be able to know:

- First Conduct Rule and Second Conduct Rule under the Ordinance
- Leniency and Cooperation Policies
- Competition cases in Hong Kong
