

School of Law

香港城市大學
City University of Hong Kong

Students' Professional Development and Public Service Programme

What is the anti-corruption law framework in Hong Kong?

What constitutes "Bribery" under the Prevention of Bribery Ordinance ("PBO")?

Does "Bribery" merely take the form of giving a red pocket to another person?

Come to this webinar to find out:

Anti-Corruption Law in Hong Kong

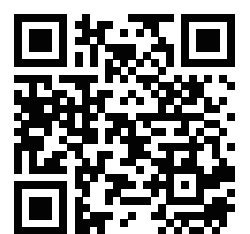

Date: 28 Jan 2021 (Thur)

Time: 5:00pm - 6:30pm

Speaker: Miss Harriet Fung Ho Yan,
Community Relations Officer, ICAC

REGISTER HERE >

<https://forms.gle/bochjG9NvBqJ29Pn8>

About this Webinar

For years, ICAC has been actively enforcing the Prevention of Bribery Ordinance ("the Ordinance") to combat against corruption practices in Hong Kong. As a law student or legal practitioner, it is important for you to learn more about the Ordinance not only to prevent yourself from mistakenly committing a crime against the Ordinance but also to know how to advise individual and corporate clients against such risks and possible enforcement actions against them in their practices, which has been an increasingly important area of legal practice.

So come to this interactive webinar with video presentation and scenario discussion sessions to learn more about the Ordinance including what constitutes acts of bribery under the Ordinance. If you think that "bribery" only involves giving a red pocket to another person nowadays, think twice!

